Dear sponsor,

Thank you for your full support of 2018 International Conference on Quantum Cryptography (QCrypt2018) at the Shanghai International Convention Center from August 27 to August 31, 2018.

QCrypt International Conference is the most well-known and influential international academic annual conference in the field of quantum communication. Since 2011, QCrypt has successively been held in Zurich, Singapore, Waterloo, Paris, Tokyo, Washington and Cambridge. This international conference will showcase the latest research results of Chinese and international scholars in the forefront of quantum communications and will discuss the latest trends of industrialization and the development of quantum cryptography.

Over 500 well-known domestic and international experts and scholars in the fields of quantum communication and quantum information will take part in the conference, of which more than 200 overseas participants are from the world's famous research institutes and universities.

According to the total budget of this international conference, while strictly executing the relevant provisions about the international conferences held by the Chinese Academy of Sciences and the University of Science and Technology of China, the sponsorship standards are divided into three levels: "Bronze, Silver, and Gold ". The specific contents of each level are as follows:
